MP's backing our £10k competition

I HOPE you all had a nice Easter despite the weather – but that all seems a long time ago now! I have spent the last month working on the Haverhill Dragons' Den-style initiative launched via this column and am absolutely delighted with the response.

As announced in the previous column, a £10,000 prize pot is on offer to assist in the establishment of a local start-up business. The panel will receive an equity share of the business and the successful applicants will receive mentoring from the panel and have access to their experience and contacts.

Entries will be whittled down to a shortlist and readers of the Weekly News will vote to choose the finalists for the final judging process.

As some of you are aware through this column, our local MP Matthew Hancock is a great supporter of business and enterprise. Matthew stated: "I am delighted to hear Robin's local 'Dragons' Den' initiative has got off to a flying start.

"The fact that a £10,000 prize pot has been raised is a fantastic achievement and will enable the winning business to hit the ground running. The Government wishes to encourage start-up businesses to boost the economy as we are well aware they will be the heartbeat of the UK's economic recovery.

"Such local initiatives bring wealth creation and job opportunities to the community and I will be keenly following the progress of the competition and look forward to presenting trophy to the eventual winner."

Matthew is also good friends with members of the cabinet, in particular the Chancellor George Osborne and the Minister of State for Business and Enterprise, Mark Prisk. I had the pleasure of meeting Mark on the April 27 and learned he is also very keen to support initiatives such as ours, and encouraging for businesses to hear this from Government. I am hoping we can secure his attendance at the final presentation to the eventual winner of the competition.

I am also pleased to announce the final judging panel, which consists of:

- the three directors of CXG, Robin Pilley, Dan Pilley and Elaine Grubb;
  - MP Matthew Hancock;
  - the Principal of Samuel Ward, Howard Lay;
  - Lloyds TSB senior commercial business manager Paul Sullivan;
  - director of Coachme Steve Catchpole;
  - Waddup Windows' Darren Waddup
- owner of various businesses in town including the high street café Dejavu and the nightclub/sports bar, Bar Vu, Harry Zachariou. Harry is also the featured local business this month (see right).

The two local high schools, Samuel Ward Upper and Castle Manor, are also enthusiastically encouraging their students to enter. In view of the response to the competition we have changed the following two things: extended the deadline to June 30 to take into account the exam season, and secondly we have changed it to one may have held your business back in the past, or, if I was interviewing the local police inspector you may wish me to raise a question regarding anti-social behaviour and the impact on your business such as graffiti or theft (which has been raised to me by local retailers).

I would like to ask tough questions to the people concerned and this column would become a voice for local business and its community. My commitment to you is that our voice, as a business community, will be heard but I need your support in order to do this in the form of the questions you would like to see answered.

I hope Matthew Hancock will be the first interviewee and I will be able to publish the results in my next column.

FIGHT FOR OUR HEALTH SERVICES: A WEEKLY NEWS CAMPAIGN

history—

October 2007

Angry residents and councillors confront health chiefs over savage cuts to doctors' budgets at a public meeting. Carole Taylor-Brown, chief executive of the Suffolk Primary Care Trust, and three other officials are put on the spot at a meeting of Haverhill Town Council.

The meeting rejects assurances that the cuts were justified and points out that the town was previously awarded extra funding because of high levels of deprivation in some areas.

Under a new national formula almost £300,000 was to be trimmed from the budgets of the three doctors' practices in the town over the next five years.

November 2007

MP Richard Spring presents a 10,000-signature petition to the House of Commons in a bid to force Suffolk PCT to reconsider the reduction in funding to Haverhill GP practices.

Suffolk PCT was proposing to change the current contracts, which would result in a reduction of £280,000 in funding to Haverhill GP practices.

Ann Sisson, practice manager at Christmas Maltings surgery, says it is inevitable that two doctors as well as nursing staff would be lost if the cuts went ahead.

Mrs Sisson says: "Haverhill has come out worse than any other town in Suffolk and nobody can tell us why. It is inevitable that we will lose doctors and that our patients will suffer. This is worrying us to death. We have looked and looked at our figures and we cannot see any way around this. We need the money now and we will need it even more in five years."

October 2009

The Crown Health Centre opens in a temporary building in the Withersfield Road car park, despite objections from the town about the earlier cuts to GP practices and views that the money could be better spent enhancing existing facilities.

January 2011

The Crown Health Centre is joint first in national patient satisfaction survey.

Practice manager Naomi Cooper says: "We are absolutely delighted at being ranked by our patients as joint 'number one' surgery, not only for the region, but nationally."

"It is an accolade we are proud of and reflects the dedication and hard work of the team here."

December 2011

NHS Suffolk announces plans to close the Crown Health Centre in October 2012 because it is too expensive to run and has failed in its aim of reducing A&E attendance from Haverhill.

January 2012

Harmoni announces reductions to the Suffolk out-of-hours doctors service, including closing the base at Newmarket and no longer manning the Haverhill base on weekday evenings.

May 2012

Angry residents slam health chiefs for failing to provide promised x-ray and others services at Crown Health Centre, then closing it despite it attracting more than 22,000 visits in two years.

Time to take a stand

FIGHT FOR HAVERHILL
SERVICES

HEALTH provision in Haverhill has been a contentious issue for decades, but never more so than at present.

Angry residents have told health chiefs in no uncertain terms that they did not feel provision for the town was adequate now, even before the loss of the Crown Health Centre, which is due to close in October.

This week the Weekly News is launching a campaign to press for better health provision for the town, including the x-ray and other clinical services it was promised before the Crown centre opened.

In the words of Cllr Tim Marks – who is about to become the first Mayor of St Edmundsbury from Haverhill for 17 years – "We want health facilities that reflect the size of Haverhill, as the fifth largest, and soon to become the fourth largest town in Suffolk."

Our campaign already has the support of Haverhill Town Council – the driving force behind a bid to get health chiefs to come to the town and tell residents exactly what provision they are making to cope with the 900 patients registered with the Crown Health Centre who will have to go elsewhere and the 22,000

Haverhill is a growing town that is going places, and needs health services to match. I'm all in favour of getting the best possible value for money out of what's spent in the town, but the Crown centre was built in recognition of the fact Haverhill didn't have enough health services – and that was when it was smaller than it is even now. NHS Suffolk's budget is rising – by around £24m this year – so they have no excuse not to re-invest some of the savings in the town. In all this, my priority is the health services for Haverhill visits made there since it opened.

Haverhill's MP Matthew Hancock is also backing the campaign, but the most important part will be to show the huge weight of public opinion on the issue and to demonstrate the level of public demand for adequate health services in the town. We need you, our readers, to take a stand in numbers and show NHS Suffolk that our views must no longer be ignored by those controlling the purse strings.

To show your support, fill in your details and sign the form below – there's space for you and nine of your friends and family. Cut it out and feel free to make copies – we need as many names as possible to make the town's voice heard.

You can drop your forms into a collection box in the Weekly News office in Queens Street, at Haverhill Arts Centre or by post to Town Clerk, Haverhill Town Council, Haverhill Arts Centre, High Street, Haverhill, CB9 8AR. If you have any additional comments, please attach them to the form on a separate piece of paper.

If you can't fill in the form, you can email your support and your details to townclerk@towncouncil.haverhill-uk.com or editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk.

statement

THE town council takes exception to the way in which 'our' primary care trust, NHS Suffolk, has arrived at its decision to close the Crown Health Centre, and to the absence of a detailed plan to accommodate the needs of former Crown patients after October 2012.

This is not to say that we consider the Crown Health Centre to be indispensable. The town council accepts that the Darzi Centre may not be the most efficient way of delivering health care and understands their desire to consider more cost-effective routes. It is, however, completely unacceptable that they have not yet considered how GPs will be resourced to accommodate the 900 registered patients of the Crown, and the 22,000 unregistered attendances it currently deals with annually. With many patients waiting two weeks for a GP appointment now, and with no target for waiting times, it is hard to believe that there is any coherent plan that will enable them to receive timely diagnosis and treatment. NHS Suffolk has spent years cultivating a culture that relies on the walk-in facility at the Crown, and now expects that people will simply change their habits overnight. The people of Haverhill expect and deserve to know NOW exactly how their health needs will be met after the closure.

We also demand to know what the PCT is doing about:

- the promise of x-ray and other diagnostic equipment, made when the Crown was opened;
- the health needs of the increasing population of Haverhill, expected to rise to some 35,000 over the next 20 years;
- the out-of-hours service, which has been reduced and already refers many patients to the Crown and to A&E, so is not well-placed to help after the closure.

It is an insult to the people of Haverhill that they have arrived at their decision without even having the courtesy at least to respond to these and other issues. Haverhill appears to be at best ignored, and at worst actively derided by the PCT. They have even tried to justify the decision in part based on one anecdotal and unsubstantiated example of someone attending A&E with a cut finger! This is deplorable slur on the people of Haverhill and warrants a public apology.

Haverhill may be a long way from Ipswich where the PCT's decisions are made – in private! However, this does not mean that we are not entitled to a voice; nor does it mean we are any less of a priority than other parts of Suffolk. Matthew Hancock MP recently confirmed that NHS Suffolk has received an additional £24m this year. So it's not a lack of money that is behind the decision. Haverhill is being targeted for service reductions while other areas seem to be getting additional support. We insist that we get a demonstrable fair share, and if this is alongside the closure of the Crown, we demand the equivalent investment in the GP and out-of-hours services.

The PCT still has an opportunity to reassure us. The town council considers that the closure does not have to happen immediately. The borough council has confirmed that the lease and planning permission could be extended, and this would allow time for meaningful public consultation and a proper plan that provides effective primary care to the people of Haverhill.

To enable a full and accountable discussion of these issues, the town council invites the PCT board to meet in public in Haverhill. We consider that the board was misled and under-informed by the report on which it based the closure decision, and we believe that if board members are fully apprised of the reality of healthcare in Haverhill, they will accept that the plans are inadequate. We have a vision – not for the indefinite retention of the Crown, but for a facility that properly serves the town and its future expansion, and we look forward to sharing it with the board.

To the board members of NHS Suffolk

Please stop the closure of the Crown Health Centre until you have planned properly for Haverhill's future health needs. Please make your future decisions about the town in public and in Haverhill, so that we can have our say. We demand a fair share of the additional £24m funding for NHS Suffolk and if the Crown Health Centre is to close, we demand the equivalent investment in the GP and out-of-hours services.

Fuel thieves warning

MOTORISTS are being warned to lock their petrol caps after three vehicles were targeted by thieves. Between 6.30pm Sunday, May 6 and 10am the next day, thieves tried to force the petrol cap off a Ford Focus parked near Dalham Place, Haverhill. Also, between 12.30pm on Sunday and 10.15am on Monday, on Abington Place, Haverhill, thieves attempted to remove the petrol cap from a Fiat Punto parked in a small parking area. In a third offence on the same night, thieves siphoned a gallon of diesel from a car in Chedburgh Place, Haverhill. Anyone with any information should contact Suffolk Police on 101

Arsonists blamed for car fire

ARSONISTS torched a car in the early on Tuesday. Firefighters from Haverhill were called to Harewood Terrace at 12.32am and on their arrival found a car well alight. Hoses were used to extinguish the blaze, which was under control by 12.53am. Officers believe it was started deliberately.

School break-in pair jailed

TWO men who admitted breaking into the disused Castle Hill Middle School, Haverhill, in March have been jailed. Danny Draper, 21, and Levi Loveridge, 37, both of Manor Road, Stansted, Essex, appeared before Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court for sentence on April 30 after admitting the break-in. Draper was jailed for 16 weeks and Loveridge for 12 weeks.

Guildhall application

A LISTED building application for replacement windows and external alterations at a former guildhall has been received by planners. Applicant David Gilligan has applied to St Edmundsbury Borough Council to make the changes at The Guildhall, Thurlow Road, Withersfield.

Isn't canyon view grand?

VISITS to the Grand Canyon and Universal Studios were on the timetable for a group of students who paid an eight-day visit to the United States.

A group of 41 pupils and six staff from Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill landed in Los Angeles and visited some of the key attractions including the Hollywood Stars and Universal Studios back lot tour.

While in Los Angeles two pupils celebrated their birthdays. Kane Robson celebrated his 13th birthday at the Bubba Gump Shrimp Company restaurant and Sean Lown celebrated his 16th birthday at The Hard Rock Café.

The students then travelled to Las Vegas and were able to ride a rollercoaster on top of a skyscraper and were treated to a tour of the main strip, including an amazing sound and light show.

The group then travelled to the Grand Canyon for the most awe-inspiring scenery of the trip. Having taken in the views, the group ate in a restaurant overlooking the canyon. The next day they took a journey to the bottom of the canyon, where they boarded boats for a gentle float toward Glen Canyon Dam. They then visited the small American town of Flagstaff, Arizona, which provided them with a contrasting view of America. In the afternoon they visited Amazing Jakes, a massive indoor restaurant, amusements, fun fair and mini golf activity centre in Phoenix where they celebrated Chelsea Kay's 15th birthday, the third and final birthday of the trip.

Fruity Facts!

Take part in Fruity Friday on 18 May 2012 and do your bit to help prevent cancer!

Have “Just one more” portion of fruit or vegetables this Fruity Friday.

WHY HAVE ‘JUST ONE MORE’?

When we mentions “just one more” we are referring to a simple step you can take towards reducing your cancer risk, by eating “just one more” portion of fruits or vegetables. Plant foods like fruits, vegetables, wholegrains and pulses such as beans, are a vital component of a healthy balanced diet.

Fruit is quick and easy to prepare, it can be cheap and is readily available for any meal or snack, making it natures own fast food.

Fruit contains a wide range of vitamins, minerals, fibre and other phytochemicals that help to keep the body healthy and protect cells from damage that can lead to cancer.

Research shows that vegetables and fruits help to reduce our risk of a range of cancers. There is also good evidence that they lower the risk of heart disease, protect against stroke and high blood pressure and even help manage diabetes.

We should all be aiming for 5 A DAY. On average children currently only eat three portions of vegetables and fruit a day and adults four so on Fruity Friday, have “just one more”.

Tributes paid to brave teen

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TRIBUTES have been flooding in for a teenager who bravely battled cancer for half of his life until his death aged just 16.

Joshua Tarrant was diagnosed with rare and highly malignant brain tumours in August 2004, but constantly defied the expectation of his doctors.

Despite receiving radiotherapy, chemotherapy and various drugs, Joshua remained cheerful and determined to lead as normal a life as possible.

Although at first his parents were told his outlook was extremely poor, there was some small shrinkage in his tumour and in 2008 the cancer was no longer progressive.

Things changed for the worse in 2011, when Joshua and his family received the devastating news he had new tumours in his brain spine.

Joshua spent many happy hours in his bedroom at the family home in Lowry Close, Haverhill, that was his haven. When his condition worsened he spent the last weeks of his life in the East Anglian Children's Hospice (EACH) at Milton and died there on April 29, with parents Sean and Denise at his side.

Joshua was a pupil at Castle Manor School in Haverhill. Hundreds of messages from pupils and teachers poured onto his Facebook page within hours of the school announcing his death, with nearly every message highlighting Joshua's infectious smile and bravery.

His funeral service is due to be held at St Mary's Church, Haverhill, at 2pm tomorrow.

His parents said they took great comfort from the Facebook messages and thanked his many friends for lifting them during this sad time.

They said: "Joshua lived life to the full when he was well enough to do so he had an incredible sense of humour, with the ability to make people laugh whenever they met him. In 2009 he enjoyed a whole month on holiday in Spain in 2010 he spent a week sailing round the Isle of Wight with Ellen MacArthur and her foundation, and in October 2011 a week at the Euro Disney resort.

Lived life to the full: Joshua Tarrant, who lost his fight against cancer last month. Right, pictured with band JLS.

"However, the highlight of 2011 was Joshua getting the chance to meet his favourite pop group JLS, organised by the Rays of Sunshine charity, where the band sang their first hit Beat Again live to him at a private gathering at the Millennium Hotel in London."

Joshua's parents want to thank everyone who supported them through his illness, especially the nurses and carers on C2 ward at Addenbrooke's hospital and the wonderful team at Milton.

Joshua leaves mum Denise, dad Sean and three brothers Lee, Greg and Ryan.

Donations to the Milton hospice in Joshua's memory can be made at www.justgiving.com/Joshua-Tarrant.

Jobs fears for card shop staff

FEARS of job losses are growing after one of the region's high street shop chains announced trading in its shares had been suspended.

Cards and gifts retailer Clinton Cards, which has nine shops in the region including one in Haverhill, is expected to go into administration after its biggest supplier called in millions of pounds in bank loans.

Clinton has 628 stores in the UK. It has two in Cambridge, in the city's Grafton and Grand Arcade shopping centres, as well as in Ely, Huntingdon, St Neots, St Ives, Newmarket and Saffron Walden.

The share suspension comes after Clinton's banks - Barclays and Royal Bank of Scotland - sold the company's £35m of loans to its biggest supplier, American Greetings.

But where the banks waived certain loan conditions, American Greetings has said it will push the company into administration today.

Clinton is the UK's biggest card retailer and employs more than 8,000 staff. It is not known how many people work in its shops in the East of England.

It is understood that administrators would continue to run the stores as normal while seeking a buyer for the business, but large number of stores could be closed.

The news is another blow to the High Street after recent high-profile casualties, including video games retailer Game Group, fashion chain Peacocks and outdoor specialist Blacks Leisure.

Clintons has suffered dire trading in recent months and has come up against tough competition from supermarkets and online retailers such as Funky Pigeon and Moonpig.

It recorded a pre-tax loss of £3.7m in the 26 weeks to January 29, compared with a profit of £11.7m in the previous year, and warned that the second half of the year would be below expectations.

Its shares have lost more than 80 per cent of their value since the start of 2010.

Whist drives to end after 28 years of fundraising

Sir, may we through your newspaper thank all who have supported the monthly village Whist drives in Kedington over the past 28 years. Unfortunately it is no longer financially viable to continue so the drive in April was the last. Over the years your generosity has enabled £2,085 to be raised for the now disbanded Kedington Cricket Club, £2,010 for the Royal National Institute for the Blind, £2,535 for the Kedington Branch of the Royal British Legion and £1,120 for the Poppy Appeal. In addition the Legion has benefitted from more than £4,000 in hall rent. Thanks once again.

Kedington duck race

HEAVY rain and swollen river banks failed to stop an annual bank holiday duck race from taking to the water.

A wave of yellow plastic ducks bobbed along the river in Kedington for the event, in aid of Kedington Church's restoration fund.

The sequence of runs took an hour and an intervention by the judge, to separate the leading ducks from debris caught in the backwash at the weir, before a winner, second and third could be declared.

Neville Smith started the race, Steve Brown was chief marshal and Matthew Upton was judge at the finish. David Bush followed the race in a kayak to keep ducks moving and to rescue any that were caught in branches or waterside plants.

A number of other helpers included Mike Shearer, David Ford and friends ran the barbecue; KCA provided equipment for use on the day and Suffolk Police made a number of officers available for traffic and crowd control at Silver Street Bridge.

John Pelling, one of the organisers, said: "It was the 10th annual race, which over the decade has raised more than £5,000, becoming second only to Open Gardens in the Committee's sources of revenue. We are extremely grateful to the people of Kedington and surrounding villages for their continuing support."

Concert, Bury St Edmunds Cathedral Saturday, May 5 Haverhill and Sudbury choral societies

A NEAR-full Bury St Edmunds Cathedral audience greeted the combined forces of Haverhill and Sudbury Choral Societies, as they assembled to present a performance of the Verdi Requiem last Saturday.

This new venture has enabled the members of these two choirs, numbering some 145 singers, to experience performing such a large work and the success of this performance should encourage such a further venture in the future.

With four very fine soloists and an orchestra of professional-standard players, the resulting performance was excellent and the audience showed their appreciation with prolonged applause both at the interval, but especially at the end.

The conductor's rostrum was shared by the two choir directors, the first half by David Butcher from Sudbury, and the second by Jane Wright, Haverhill.

This did not appear to be much of a problem, bearing in mind that every conductor is different which has an effect on the performance. Both demonstrated their total control.

The chorus responded magnificently, particularly with clear diction, and at no time being drowned by the orchestra, rarely a problem at Bury Cathedral when it is full!

The four soloists are already making their mark in the profession, all boasting a list of important engagements both at home and abroad. They were Fiona Hammacott (soprano), a late replacement, Hannah Mason (mezzo soprano), Ben Thapa (tenor), and Mark Saberton (bass). All four made a considerable contribution to the success of the evening.

The programme was unable to acknowledge two additional orchestral members, who were part of the very exciting build up to the Tuba Mirum by the brass section, providing off-stage trumpet parts.

Let us all hope that this will not be an isolated event and look forward to another in the future.

Haverhill Townswomen's Guild

AT the April meeting, Mrs B Jennings, our life president, presented Guild badges to the committee.

Eight members attended the Federation AGM and lunch at Cambridge Regional College and we wore red, white and blue. The lunch was superb, all cooked and served by the pupils in catering. Mrs Jennings brought Union Jack hats and flags. We looked quite the part to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

The handicraft group made crocheted roses at their last meeting. Next meeting they will be making collage boxes. Final arrangements were made for the Federation social evening on Victorian woman and Haverhill has chosen Elizabeth Fry. Mrs Betty Jennings is going to dress up. Mrs Jackie Lawrence said she would make Elizabeth Fry's bonnet.

The speaker for the evening was Mrs Maureen Moody whose subject was magazine journalism. She brought along magazines and told us how she started writing articles and said there was a magazine for every subject you could think of. Her talk was very interesting and gave us all an insight into the magazine world. A vote of thanks was given for Mrs Jennings.

Next meeting on May 22 will be Mr Burridge on native Americans. We meet at the West End Hall, Withersfield Road at 7.15pm. Guests and new members will receive a warm welcome. Just come along to a meeting or telephone Mrs Hampson on (01440) 714730.

Olympic quest for walkers

A CHURCH is hoping a change in the weather may encourage people to join in a pre-Olympic walk this weekend.

The event will take place on Saturday at the East Town Park in Haverhill, with registration at 9.30am and a mass start at 10am. Pastor David Wiffen of the town's Downs Baptist Church will lead the event, offering a chance to walk an Olympic distance of either 5000m, 10,000m or a marathon. This can be done at your own pace, enjoying countryside footpaths, with a map provided and a certificate with your time and distance.

Pastor Wiffen said: "Anyone in normal health, with sturdy footwear and thick socks, a bottle of water and something shower-proof can comfortably do it – even the marathon with a couple of prior long walks. "After the recent weeks of rain and heavy showers, and a change of weather likely for the weekend, we envisage a bright spring day for walking or jogging on countryside footpaths. This pleasure may be almost unknown to those tied to gym fitness routines, or local runners relentlessly running on tarmac. What can be seen and heard while out in the fields can be a revelation." Walking, running and family groups are welcome, as well as company social clubs, active pensioners and under-16s, but only with a parent or adult.

The entrance fee is £10 for adults for Action Duchenne and EACH, with children free. For more information, call Mr Wiffen on (01440) 702854.

Man in 70s falls down 20ft bank

FIREFIGHTERS rescued an elderly man who had fallen down a 20ft bank at the bottom of his garden.

The man, in his 70s, was trapped at the bottom of a ditch next to a river, in Camps Road, Helions Bumpstead.

Crews released the man using a ladder and basket stretcher after being called out shortly after 3.40pm on Tuesday.

Sub-officer Steve Morris, of Thaxted fire station, said: "The man didn't seem to worse for wear for his ordeal."

"He had a few cuts and bruises and nothing more serious than that."

More help for traders in bid to boost town

TRADERS have been getting some top tips on boosting their business – and more free sessions are on offer.

Debbie Kemp of Kent Business School has been working on a project to help revitalise Haverhill town centre, and her first masterclass for traders in Queen Street got a favourable reception from traders who attended.

Amanda Harris, from Amanda Julia Couture, a bridal gown business in Queen's Street, who learned about driving sales and profit, said: "I found the first masterclass extremely helpful."

"It gave me inspiration and motivation to push my business forward. It is very easy to get bogged down with the day-to-day running of the business and lose sight of the goals I want to be achieving and ways to achieve these goals."

Caroline Grimes from C&B Beautiful said: "I definitely found it valuable and I am looking forward to the next two sessions".

Debbie, who is organising the sessions, said: "The response to the first session was really positive and we want more businesses to come and benefit."

"These free classes will not be repeated and they may make the difference between struggling and realising your business potential. The aim is to drive footfall and increase sales and profit. I would urge town centre traders not to miss out".

The next session between 10am and noon on Monday, May 14 is on multi-channel marketing and retailing, followed by "The shopping experience": visual merchandising and customer service" on Monday, May 21.

The masterclasses are held at Haverhill Arts Centre and are aimed at store managers/owners, with up to two other members of staff welcome per session.

To book a place, contact Debbie Kemp on 07533 788480 or email d.kemp@kent.ac.uk.

The classes are being run as part of the Destination Haverhill initiative funded jointly by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Suffolk County Council and Kent Business School.

Two men on trial over David's murder and kidnap of Judith

Free: Judith Tebbutt pictured shortly after her release in March.

TWO men have gone on trial in Kenya for the murder of a former Haverhill man and his wife's kidnapping.

Judith Tebbutt, 56, was snatched by a gang from a remote beach resort near the Kenyan-Somali border last September.

Her 58-year-old husband, David, finance director of book publisher Faber, was shot dead in the raid by suspected Somali pirates.

The two men on trial, who come from East Africa, face charges of murder, violent robbery and kidnap.

Mrs Tebbutt, a social worker, was released on March 21 after her family paid her captors a ransom believed to be $1.3m (£800,000) for her release.

She did not know about her husband's death until their son Oliver told her, two weeks after she was captured.

Youngsters needed to go wild

YOUNG volunteers are needed to go wild in the countryside and help improve their local park.

Haverhill Volunteer Centre has new dates for conservation work and activities for young volunteers at East Town Park.

It is encouraging young volunteers from the age of 9-18 to get involved. The Go Wild group meets at the park and works with the park rangers doing a variety of jobs. The next meeting is on Saturday.

Each session includes some conservation work and a small project. At the next meeting there will be some conservation work and a bug hunt. The group meets at 9.45am at East Town Park Wildlife Centre and finishes at noon.

The activities are free. Anyone who would like to volunteer once a month should contact Elaine or Gaby at the Volunteer Centre on (01440) 708444 or email info@hvc.org.uk.

Spotlight shines on young artists

HUNDREDS of children have given their colourful impressions of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in artwork featured in an exhibition.

The display inspired by the forthcoming Jubilee can now be viewed at Haverhill Arts Centre, with 17 pieces created by pupils from schools in the Haverhill area in a project involving more than 700 young people.

They have been created using techniques including painting collage, digital manipulation, marquetry and chalk and pencil work.

Materials used include stamps, buttons, milk bottle tops, cotton reels, fabrics, wood and plastic toys. The exhibition forms part of a range of events and activities promoted by Haverhill Town Council to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee.

Arts and leisure manager Nick Keeble said: "We are delighted by the quality of the exhibition. It is bright, colourful and makes you smile."

"The contributors range from two months to 17 years old and the different techniques and styles used are fascinating. Each group was simply asked to produce art inspired by the Jubilee – the only constraint was the size of the finished work.

"We hope that many people will visit the Arts Centre to see the exhibition over the next month."

The project has been so successful that Haverhill Arts Centre is considering making a schools exhibition an annual event.

Those participating in the project were Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, Clements Primary School, Coupals Primary School, Kedington Primary School, Samuel Ward Academy, St Felix Roman Catholic Primary School, Thurlow Primary School, Wickhambrook Primary School and a craft group who meet at Haverhill Library. Each school received a certificate from Haverhill mayor Cllr Maureen Byrne.

A programme of events and activities from June 1 to 7 will be released next week featuring a matinee show celebrating 60 years of music and fun, a schools concert and a tribute night, an indoor street party, a beacon and a community picnic on the Chalkstone estate.

Funding for the Jubilee events has been obtained from Haverhill Town Council, St Edmundsbury Borough Council and the One Haverhill Community Grants Fund.

We hope you have enjoyed your flight

MAYOR'S VIEW

by Cllr Maureen Byrne, mayor of Haverhill

TIME flies, as they say, and as my year-long flight as town mayor comes into land (hopefully not too bumpy!), this is my opportunity to reflect on a wonderful journey, and to thank so many people for flying with Mayor Maureen's Airways!

It has been a huge privilege and honour to serve as your mayoral 'pilot' over the last 12 months. In representing the town I have 'landed' at some very important events and met some really genuine and personal people in places across Suffolk and beyond.

At charity dinners and church services I have always been warmly received when I say I've just 'flown' in from Haverhill, and it's a credit to the people of the town that we are thought of so fondly. It is also notable that the work of my air stewards (aka town councillors) is highly respected elsewhere – people are very envious of our Arts Centre and the way the town council supports provision for the community, from the very young to the senior citizens.

Regular readers of my column will know that I have been determined as mayor to highlight the great work of community and voluntary groups in the town. If I really was a pilot I'd be painting vapour trails in the sky congratulating the likes of the Gateway Group, the Befriending Scheme, Wednesdays for Women, REACH, the Town Pastors, Haverhill in Bloom and so many more – you know who you are! Your work is the wings and engines of Haverhill's community aeroplane, and without you we'd be in a nose dive by now!

I have been privileged to work with an excellent mayoral cabin crew over the last year. Once again there are too many to thank here, but a special mention for my co-pilots Pat Hanlon, Roger André and Maura Tyler, all of whom have given their time freely to accompany me on mayoral visits, and have occasionally taken over the flight controls completely when I have been grounded.

I am also very grateful to my town council 'navigators' Vicky Ward, Nick Keeble and all the other staff who have guided me through a fantastic year. And of course a huge thank-you to air traffic controller Gordon Mussett, who as town clerk for much of the year gave me daily support on a vast range of issues that as mayor I needed to know about. I wish him all the best for a long and happy retirement, much deserved after the years of hard work and significant benefits he has brought to the town. Thanks too to Will Austin who has recently taken over the role of guiding the council through crowded political 'airways'.

Of course my mayoral journey wouldn't have got off the runway had it not been for my family, the most important thing to me. They have tolerated my long absences, and this has enabled me to represent residents. I would like to say a huge thank-you for your support – I love you all very much.

Being town mayor as well as an elected representative for our communities is a high-flying privilege, but also requires 100 per cent commitment. I have given it my best and pledged to continue campaigning with councillor colleagues on the issues that affect you – for the residents of Place Court, for the best possible health care for our town, and for the future of our community in Vision 2031, the High Street scheme and other initiatives that affect us.

But in signing off, a plea to you all – please don't just be passengers on the town's future flights. Our town needs you and your families to get behind our campaigns by helping out, or at very least by showing your support by signing petitions and surveys that we organise. Don't let a successful future for Haverhill become a flight of fancy!

Cash & Cheque Express going strong one year on....

There will be a party atmosphere at local business Cash & Cheque Express this Saturday 12th May to celebrate the first year's anniversary of the shop being in business. Manager, Keith Carpenter explains, "We are inviting everyone along to our Cash & Cheque Express Year Open Day where we will be offering the chance to win £100,000 when you spend £10 or more in the store between 12th May and 30th June 2012. On the day there will also be balloons and chocolate coins for the little ones so everyone is welcome.

The team is made up of family and friends who offer a friendly service and have built up a good rapport with the regular customers that use the shop. "We have always strived to give a quality and friendly customer service" Keith said.

The business can offer eight different services including cheque cashing, payday loans, Western Union, buybacks on valuable items & electrical goods, retail sales on DVDs, games, laptops, cameras, TVs etc. "We are confident that our gold prices are the best around for buying and selling and as a special anniversary offer are even offering an extra £5 with every £100 worth of gold bought between 12th May and 30th June 2012."

Keith prides his team that they are capable to deal with all individual cases on a daily basis and would like to take this opportunity to thank all their loyal customers past and present and to welcome future ones too.

'I don't know mum took her

LOOKING at a photo of India Runham Clark and her mum Heidi on holiday, the happy faces beaming back are more like those of sisters than mother and daughter. "We were close and used to mess around," smiles India. "We had a good relationship."

The treasured family photo is one of many proudly displayed in the living room of India's grandparents' home in Sawston; some capturing a funny moment, others documenting landmark events.

But on July 21 last year, the family's life was torn apart when their beloved Heidi committed suicide, aged 38.

"I felt complete disbelief," says Heidi's son Tarren, 21. "It's taken a while for it to settle in."

Described by her mum Wendy Ackroyd as "full of fun", Heidi worked as a teaching assistant for children with learning difficulties at William Westley CofE Primary School in Whittlesford. She was married to India and Tarren's stepdad Matthew, and was a devoted Take That fan. "She loved Take That," says India. "One of my memories of her is when she came home from seeing them at Wembley and she was just running around."

Heidi's death came as a terrible shock to her family, particularly as they weren't aware she had been struggling in any way. In fact, the Take That concert, which she attended with her sister Zoe and enjoyed so much, was just a few days before she died; she was due to go on a family holiday to Wales the following weekend, and had visited Wendy the day before she died.

"I remember her screaming in excitement down the phone 'I'm going to see Take That!'" says Wendy, 58. "I didn't notice anything. I've looked in her diary and she'd got the whole year planned out. If someone had said to me 'this is what Heidi's going to do' I would have said 'she'd never do something like that to us'. She just wasn't that sort of person. She was loud and bubbly and she was always flitting in and out of here; she only lived a couple of minutes down the road."

The family believe that, although on the outside Heidi was the person they all knew and loved, inside she wasn't herself.

"I think she was in a bad place at that particular time," says Wendy. "I wish she had been able to reach out to us for help, but did she know what was going on? I think it's just something she did. It came out that she took her own life, but I know if she'd been in the right frame of mind she wouldn't have even considered doing that. I think if she had thought to herself 'I've had enough of my life, I'm going to take it' she would have either written a letter or she would have texted someone saying sorry."

"She must be happier now," adds Tarren.

It's just nine months since Heidi's death, and the family are still finding it desperately hard to come to terms with. But 16-year-old India wanted to organise an event in memory of her mum and, next Friday, May 18, will be holding a charity ball at Chilford Hall, in Linton, called Heidi's Secret Ball.

"It was actually Tarren's idea but I'm organising it," says the Sawston Village College student. "It was on mum's birthday, on March 27, that we decided to do it so, we went to Chilford Hall and booked the venue that day."

As Heidi loved

masquerade-themed parties, the brother and sister have decided to throw a masked ball to not only remember their mum, but also to raise funds for Cruse Bereavement Care, the charity which provides support to people who have lost someone close to them.

"The last thing that me and mum went to together was a masquerade ball at Chilford Hall," says Tarren. "Brandon Block was headlining and we got suited and booted and wore masks." India plans to wear the mask her mum wore to the ball that night, and thinks her mum would have been proud of what she is doing.

"She loved being the centre of attention so this would have made her happy," she says. "We're having a live band first and then we're having funky house music because that's what mum liked the most."

All the family are dealing with Heidi's death in different ways, but they all agree that the support they have had from friends and family has been a huge and is helping them through the heartache. "We're a family and we all stick together," says Wendy. "If something's wrong with one of us, you just drop everything and go and help. It was sunny for two weeks after she (Heidi) went and the garden was always full of people."

India, who now lives with Wendy and her granddad, Andrew, admits she prefers to grieve privately, while Wendy has found comfort through talking to a counsellor, organised by Cruse Bereavement Care.

"It's good to talk to someone who's not connected to the family," says Wendy. "I'm the sort who likes to keep things to myself and cope, but seeing him does bring it out a bit more."

Just a couple of days after Heidi's death, Tarren had a tattoo on his arm in memory of his mum. The design includes part of a reading which he gave at her funeral, where 400 people turned out to pay their respects. "For me this (the tattoo) was a way to cope, it was a way of giving something back. I needed to do something. I've still got to get it finished, but it's all to do with mum."

Losing her mum, India says, has brought her closer to her brother, but the bubbly teenager says she's not ready to know why or how her mum took her life.

"I don't think I'm old enough to know now," she admits. "I'd rather wait until I'm older when I can handle it. I will want to know, but not yet."

India urges anyone feeling how her mum did to "think about their families" and, by helping each other through these tough times, the family continues to take each day as it comes.

"My counsellor has asked me if I have felt angry at Heidi and I haven't," says Wendy. "He's told me to look to the future and I know Heidi's not going to be there, but I know I can't keep going around feeling sullen and unhappy."

"You do put a front on and there have been days when I could have quite easily crawled into a hole, but at the end of the day you've still got to get up and do the same things and go to work."

"If someone had said to me 'this is what your daughter is going to do' I wouldn't have believed it. Heidi was just so full of life and she's left a big, big hole in all our lives."

● Heidi's Secret Ball is at Chilford Hall, in Linton, on Friday, May 18 from 8pm-2am.

● Tickets are priced £20 each and are available by emailing india.clark@hotmail.co.uk

● If you would like to donate an auction or raffle prize, sponsor the event or make a donation, please contact India on the same email address.

● All money raised will go to Cruse Bereavement Care and William Wesley School.

Funeral director bidding to help 'positive' hospice

A FUNERAL director hopes to raise hundreds of pounds for the Arthur Rank Hospice by taking part in a charity night-time walk.

James Skeates, whose family have owned R Skeates Funeral Directors, based in Duxford, for more than 50 years, will step out on the 10-mile Star Shine Stroll on May 19.

It is organised by the Cambridge-based hospice, which offers palliative care.

The 33-year-old father of two, who lives in Haverhill, told the Weekly News: "Obviously working in the funeral business I work quite closely with those at Arthur Rank and it is such a positive place. 'I knew I wasn't up to a marathon so I think the Star Shine Stroll is perfect."

"Arthur Rank does a fantastic job of caring for people often at the end of their lives and I want to show our appreciation. 'They do a great job of fundraising but I know that every little helps and I hope that people will support me and help me raise a few hundreds pounds for them."

Sense needs your help

A NEW charity shop is about to open its doors – and needs volunteers to help run it.

A new shop at Jubilee Walk in Haverhill was due to open today, run by charity Sense. The charity is appealing for stocks of clothes, books, videos, DVDs or bric-a-brac to help raise vital funds which provide services for deafblind people.

Sense is also appealing for volunteers who might have a few hours to spare during the week to help out.

For more information, call Mark on 07847 371 274.

Sense shops are rated amongst the UK's very best by Sunday Times Style and offer some unique retro-chic plus bargains galore.

Two jailed for school raid

TWO men who admitted breaking into a disused Haverhill school have been jailed by magistrates. Danny Draper, 31, and Levi Loveridge, 37, both from addresses in Manor Road, Stansted, Essex, appeared before Bury St Edmunds magistrates for sentencing on Monday, April 30. Draper was sent to prison for 16 weeks and Loveridge for 12 weeks.

Both had admitted a joint charge of entering Castle Hill Middle School in Haverhill as trespassers with intent to steal on March 29.

My kingdom come

ROYAL RUMPUS:
Marcus Brigstocke prepares for extreme silliness in Spamalot

UNION Jack bunting, cream teas and rounds of God Save the Queen might be one way to celebrate Great Britishness, and there'll certainly be plenty of that going on in the coming months as we gear up for Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee and the Olympics.

Elsewhere, however, a different kind of British tradition is being upheld – the kind that involves silly songs, men dressed as women and mocking the French.

Monty Python's

As he rides into Cambridge as Spamalot's King Arthur, the Marcus Brigstocke tells JENNIFER SHELTON about the joys of being professionally daft, and why the British – and Monty Python specifically – do it so well.

hardly a Constable-correct portrait of our green and pleasant land, but its skewed silliness and self-mockery is Britain all over, says actor and comedian Marcus Brigstocke, currently in the role of King Arthur in Spamalot.

"There's a uniquely British silliness to it," he says. "It's a very serious commitment to being silly and trivial, and I think there's something very British about that."

The brainchild of John Du Prez and original Python Eric Idle, Spamalot – "lovingly ripped off" from the 1974 film Monty Python and the Holy Grail – first hit the stage in 2005, winning the Tony Award for Best Musical that year. The UK tour has taken the cast the length and breadth of the kingdom, and Brigstocke is in his old university town of Bristol ("this is where you went if you didn't get your place at Cambridge") when I phone for a chat prior to the show – which also stars Bonnie Langford and Grange Hill/EastEnders legend Todd Carty.

For Brigstocke, like many of us, growing up with Monty Python has shaped his appreciation of comedy, and he is delighted to be part of such a faithful homage.

"I found Monty Python when I was in my teens," he explains. "I have a vague memory of the 70s and people saying 'Ni!' to each other and doing silly walks. I think The Meaning of Life came out on VHS when I was at school and I saw that – then worked my way back, realising there was this treasure trove of other films and shows.

"They properly changed the direction of British comedy," he continues. "And the songs are fantastic. People sometimes forget that. It's been a real treat for me, as a stand-up, to be handed a script by Eric Idle and told to do all these amazing songs and see the way audiences react to them."

Spamalot features all these hits and more, with sequin-clad backing dancers aplenty. Asked how he's found the singing and dancing elements, Brigstocke – more used to presenting his satirical news programme The Late Edition or ranting about religion in his stand-up shows – is refreshingly honest: "Bloody terrifying, thanks for asking," he says. "It was properly scary for me to try and push myself and do something new.

"I've had a lot of help, I've been to a singing teacher, though my singing is nowhere near perfect, but it's good enough for King Arthur. I don't actually have to do loads of singing in the show – Arthur (originally played by Graham Chapman) is very often a straight man. But I do love the singing and dancing, it's brilliant."

Does he feel Arthur is a good role for him?

"What, the sort of pompous idiot entirely baffled by the world? Yes, I think it's a role I'm moderately well suited to. He's King of the Britons, which he seems to be fairly proud of, but nobody else really recognises him as king and they just carry on being silly and strange..."

■ Spamalot, Cambridge Corn Exchange, until May 12, 7.30pm. Tickets are from £27.50, for more details and to book, contact (01223) 357851 / www.comex.co.uk.

Traktor boy here to stay

He was last year's urban music break-out star and, after a string of top five singles, Wretch 32's success continues as he begins his biggest UK tour to date. Louise Martin catches up with the fast-rising rapper about how growing up on a tough London estate has shaped his music.

THEY say first impressions count and Wretch 32 certainly made his when his debut single Traktor steered its way straight in to the top five last year.

The London-born rapper sealed the deal when follow-up track Don't Go stormed to number one, just days before his debut album Black and White entered the charts at a very comfortable number four.

Wretch 32 (his real name is Jermaine Scott but as a child he was "very naughty" and his Jamaican parents used to call him a little wretch. The name stuck and 3-2 are his lucky numbers) became interested in music from a young age as his dad was a DJ. "I was fascinated with anything he was doing," remembers the 27-year-old.

"Of course, as a young boy you admire your dad but he was mad into music and had loads of records. I knew that music was something I wanted to be involved with."

He may have entered the mainstream last year after an appearance on the BBC's Sound of 2011 poll, but the rapper had been plugging away for nearly a decade previous selling mix tapes in Tottenham, where he grew up.

"In the early stages you've got to build up your buzz in your home and then it will spread out," he explains. "I wasn't really great at 18, I was OK. No, actually," he laughs, "I'm going to be honest, I was rubbish! When I first started out I was rubbish. I was trying to find myself and it took me a while to really figure out what role I was going to have in music."

But, he adds: "Growing up in a harsh part of London has helped me because I've seen different walks of life," he admits.

"I've seen the walk of life where you very much feel like you're a lost cause and you feel like there's not much you can do in life. Being able to spin it and turn it around to being somebody that can motivate people that are like how I once was, I think that's a beautiful thing. I think it's cool that I've been through a lot in life because it enables me to talk about it and to rap about it."

Comedy godfather has offer you can't refuse

NICK Revell headlines May's Custard Comedy bill at Comberton Leisure. Nick is one of the most distinguished names on the circuit – a comedy godfather.

His credits are almost too numerous to mention, but include a Perrier Award nomination, plus appearances on Friday Night Live, Just A Minute, The News Quiz, Quote Unquote and

Not the Nine O'Clock News. The Guardian market him out as "one of the most creative and incisive comics on the circuit."

He is supported by Neil Cole, who appears at all the major comedy clubs around the country, including MCing for music events at The Royal Albert Hall, and supported Russell Brand on his UK tour. Damien Kingsley has been a finalist in several new act competitions and has moved quickly onto paid work for established clubs.

"A considerable talent, with strong anecdotal humour" is what Three Weeks called him. Meanwhile, rising talent Tony Jameson is in demand as an MC and act at many of the biggest clubs in the UK, and has been performing on the UK comedy circuit since late 2008.

■ Nick Revell at Comberton Leisure, tomorrow at 8.15pm. Tickets £8 (£6 concessions) in advance or £10 (£8) on the door. Contact Comberton Leisure reception on (01223) 264444 or buy online: www.wegotickets.com/event/158928

The big film

DARK SHADOWS
Certificate 12A, 1h53m

JOHNNY Depp sinks his pearly whites into this offbeat comedy based on a 1960s TV series about a roguish playboy, Barnabus Collins, who reawakens from an early grave 200 years after a witch called Angelique (Eva Green) cursed him to walk the earth as a vampire.

While Barnabus acclimatises to the groovy customs and retina-searing fashions of swinging 1972 Maine, Angelique returns to make his undead life a misery.

So the fanged fiend joins forces with the latest branch of the Collins family tree headed by Elizabeth (Michelle Pfeiffer) to repel the vengeful harpy. Other members of the kooky clan, including Elizabeth's sassy teenage daughter Carolyn (Chloe Grace Moretz), her brother Roger (Jonny Lee Miller) and his 10-year-old son David (Gulliver McGrath), help or hinder Barnabus, while Collinwood Manor's eccentric caretaker Willie Loomis (Jackie Earle Haley) and live-in psychiatrist Dr Julia Hoffman (Helena Bonham Carter) have plenty to say about a creature of the night living under Elizabeth's roof.

Dark Shadows reunites Depp with quixotic director Tim Burton, a creative marriage sealed in 1990 with Edward Scissorhands, and with co-star Sir Christopher Lee.

More plants by the layer

by Hannah Stephenson

IT'S cuttings season, when gardeners nationwide take cuttings from their plants to increase stocks of their favourites, but not all plants root well from cuttings.

Some plants, including acer, forsythia, daphne, viburnum, rhododendron, azalea and camellia may do better through layering, a technique in which layers of healthy stems remain attached to the parent until roots have formed.

Layers occur naturally in the garden when low-growing plants are heavily mulched, thus partially burying some of the branches.

Plants including ivy, campsis and Hydrangea anomala subsp. petiolaris naturally self-layer, with shoots touching the ground rooting and forming new plants, but in most cases the gardener has to provide some input into layering chosen species successfully.

CUT HERE: Leave the immediate leaf clusters above the ground.

Spring is the best time for layering, although it can be done at any time of year apart from winter.

Choose a flexible young shoot of your chosen plant which can be bent down to ground level, preparing the soil where it is going to touch by digging in well-rotted organic matter, such as compost mixed with sharp sand. Strip the leaves from the area of stem to be layered.

Make a long, sloping cut towards the shoot tip, cutting only about a third of the way through the stem at a suitable point in the underside of the branch, then wedge the cut open with a matchstick and dust it with rooting hormone.

Make a shallow depression in the soil just below the shoot, then bury that section of the stem into the prepared soil 5-7.5cm (2-3in) deep and peg it firmly in place with two strong wire hoops, one each side of the cut, then secure the growing tip to an upright cane and cover it with compost.

As the layering is done at the base of the shrub, the greatest danger to rooting layers is lack of water, so give it a thorough watering and, if necessary, work some water-retaining material into the soil.

Leave it for at least a year until new strong growth is visible and the plant resists when tugged, which shows that it is well rooted.

Most layers should have rooted by the following autumn, when they can be severed from the parent plant and grown on in pots or a nursery bed until large enough to plant in their final positions.

Stocks of climbers, such as honeysuckles and clematis, can be increased by serpentine layering, which is similar to simple layering, but multiple layers are made from one stem. It's ideal for using with climbers with long, supple stems.

Lay the trailing shoot along the ground, stripping the leaves and sideshoots from every second or third leaf cluster, then wound the stem close to the points where the leaves have been stripped and apply rooting hormone before pegging these sections down in shallow trenches in well-prepared soil. Thin-stemmed climbers need not be wounded.

Leave the intermediate leaf clusters above the ground so that the stem snakes in and out of the ground. In time, the pegged down sections should root and produce shoots. When growing strongly the new plants can be severed and grown on independently. This method can also be used for houseplants which are hard to root, such as ficus.

A third method is air layering, which is ideal for plants which often lack low-growing shoots suitable for conventional layering, such as magnolia, hazel, cotinus and flowering cornus species.

Instead of taking the stem down to the ground, choose a healthy upright stem and trim off the side shoots and leaves from a 30cm (1ft) section, making an upward-slanting cut below the leaf joint, but not cutting more than half way through the stem.

Brush the wound with rooting hormone compound and wedge a matchstick into the cut, then tape a sleeve of polythene around the bottom of the cut, plugging the sleeve with sphagnum moss for the roots to grow into and then seal the top. Keep the moss moist.

Leave the wrapping in place for up to a year, opening and checking it occasionally for signs of rooting. When strong new roots are visible through the moss, remove the plastic sleeve and cut through the stem just below the rooted section, which can then be potted up into compost, but don't remove the moss from the roots. Water, label and grow on until large enough to plant outside.

In little more than a year, you could have doubled the collection of your favourite plants.

Subaru BRZ tagged for summer

Whiplash saga costs insurers £2bn a year

WHIPLASH injury claims cost insurers more than £2 billion last year – adding around £90 to the cost of a typical car insurance policy, the AA has revealed.

The motoring organisation said reform of the injury claim system “cannot come soon enough”.

The comments came as ministers hosted a motor insurance summit in London, with the Government expected to outline measures to “weed out” false claims.

The measures could include proposals to tackle “questionable” medical evidence and encourage insurance companies to challenge dubious claims.

The AA said that, over the past two years, claims for whiplash injury contributed to the biggest car insurance premium increases ever. In that time, the average shop-around quote for a comprehensive policy rose by nearly 50 per cent, the AA added.

Simon Douglas, director of AA Insurance, said: “I hope the Government announcement will see a tight timescale applied to reform of the civil litigation which at present encourages people to make a claim regardless of how serious their injury is or even if they have not suffered injury at all.

“The present dysfunctional system has also spawned a fraudulent multi-million-pound ‘cash for crash’ industry.”

Justice Secretary Kenneth Clarke said the Government’s plans will aim to tackle questionable medical evidence and make it “quicker, cheaper and easier for valid injury claims to be dealt with through the small claims court”.

Proposals, to be outlined in a consultation document this summer, will include the feasibility of introducing independent medical experts with no direct links to either claimants or defendants, to replace the current assessment of whiplash injuries by either GPs or doctors.

Doctors can currently receive a fee of up to £195 to process these claims and some have a regular client base of solicitors.

Other proposals include raising the limit for personal injury cases in the small claims court from £1,000 to £5,000.

Prime Minister David Cameron has vowed to take on the “compensation culture”, including the £2 billion-a-year costs associated with whiplash that are forcing up insurance costs for all motorists.

Stunning 2+2 Coupe scoops acclaim before launch, with prices due to start from £24,995

SUBARU has announced prices and a choice of two model variants for its new BRZ sports car, ahead of its arrival in showrooms in the summer.

The BRZ has already been acclaimed for delivering a thoroughbred driving experience, thanks to its light weight, low centre of gravity, superb rear-wheel-drive chassis balance, and high-revving 2.0-litre Boxer engine. With on-the-road prices from £24,995 to £27,995, it also offers great value.

Giving customers a good choice in interior kit and trim, the BRZ will appear in two model variants: 2.0i SE, and 2.0i SE Lux with a choice of a six-speed manual or, for £1,500 more, a six-speed automatic with paddle shift operation. A more basic S model is anticipated in 2013.

Both the SE and SE Lux will come equipped with 17-inch alloys, a sophisticated torque-sensing limited slip differential and fully automatic aircon with push-button engine start; leather-trimmed steering wheel, parking brake and gearshift lever; and a high-quality six-speaker audio system with CD, radio and iPod connectivity. The SE Lux also has heated leather seats.

There are two optional extras: Pioneer sat-nav (£1,000) and special

UK.

At no additional cost, Subaru ETCo covers minor dent and scratch repairs, alloy wheel repairs, monthly wash, annual valet, lost keys replacement, service collection and delivery, annual wheel alignment check, first MOT cover, and winter wheel and tyre storage, as well as an accident management service and a contribution to insurance cover excess.

Subaru ETCo is offered in addition to Subaru’s three-year/60,000-mile manufacturer warranty.

For details go to www.subaru.co.uk/brz or alternatively call the Welch Group on 08430 228194.

paint finishes (£500).

All Subaru BRZ buyers will be entitled to Subaru’s unique Everything Taken Care of (ETCo) aftercare package, the most comprehensive in the with dual-zone controls.

The SE and SE Lux also feature electrically-folding door mirrors with heaters; keyless Smart Entry

THE Ely Weekly News has teamed up with STIHL, one of the world's leading garden and outdoor power tool brands, to offer six lucky readers the chance to win a pair of tickets to the British Superbikes Championships at Snetterton that are sponsored by STIHL for the fifth consecutive year.

British Superbikes is one of the country's most popular and exciting motor sports, with top-class riders reaching speeds of around 200mph on the country's best-known race tracks. Much of the appeal of Superbikes is down to the bikes themselves, which are factory-backed versions of ordinary road bikes, enabling fans to really appreciate the skills of riders and technologies alike.

Riders are competing in 12 hotly contested races around the country this year. Spectators at Snetterton can expect a full day's racing action, and the two Superbikes events will form the highlights of the day.

STIHL, the outdoor power tool company, is now an established brand among builders, foresters, landscapers and groundsmen for its robust and high quality outdoor power tools.

STIHL is also fast becoming a household name with gardeners and home owners for their use. High performance products and great results – the synergy between STIHL and Superbikes is clear.

For your chance to win one of the six pairs of tickets on offer, please answer the following question: Which rider won the 2011

British Superbikes Championship?

Post your answer, together with your name, address and daytime phone number to: Superbikes Competition, PO Box 268, Cambridge CB24 6HF to arrive no later than May 18, 2012.

Alternatively, you can email the answer, together with your details to competitions@cambridge-news.co.uk.

Please put 'Snetterton Superbikes Competition' in the subject box. Your details may be used by Cambridge Newspapers or STIHL to let you know about future opportunities but will not be passed on to third parties. If you would prefer for your details not to be used in this way please write the words 'NO CONTACT' in the subject box of your email or on the front of your envelope.

For more information, visit www.stihl.co.uk.

To buy tickets for Snetterton please call 0843 453 9000 or visit <https://tickets.motor-sportvision.co.uk/calendar>.

ALMOST 50 members of the Haverhill/Saffron Walden Shotokan Karate Club took part in their annual tournament.

The standard of competition was high as the 47 students competed in individual Kata (set form), team Kata, individual Kumite (sparring) for green belts and below, and freestyle fighting for purple belts and above.

There was also a special section for the beginners who had not been training long and they performed the basic Kihon (four blocks – upward, downward, outside and inside), as well as a straight punch, front snap kick and the front stance.

High standard for club's showpiece

Results Beginners: 1 Lorna Root, 2 Alesha, 3 Charley Curtis. Individual Kata. White/blue/red grades: 1 Dan Haddock, 2 Emily Soar, 3 Reggie Roberts. Orange/yellow/green: 1 - Mason Haines-Kelvin, 2 Jo Benham, 3 Paul Smith. Purple and above grades: 1 Michael Martin, 2 Stephanie Bovis, 3 Elisabeth Kerr. Team Kata. ■ Following the closure of the Chalkstone Middle School last year, the Haverhill club is now at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College and anyone wishing to join can call Gill Payne on 01440 708365.

The Saffron Walden club is based in the Saffron Walden County High Sports centre and also at Great Sampford Primary School.

ANDY Fish won the Foundation Cup – Haverhill's first 'major' of the year – after two commendable sub-par rounds.

He carded a nett 136 for the 36-hole medal format competition, beating Dave Whiting and first-round leader Mark Stanton, who had to be separated by countback.

Stanton was three clear after a superb nett 64 on the first day, while Michael Elsworth had the best score in the second round – a nett 66 where the early starters had the best of the conditions.

However, Fish's two rounds of 69 and 67 gave him a one-shot advantage.

First round: 1 Mark Stanton 75-11-64, 2 Daragh Whelan 73-8-65, 3 Simon Price 83-16-67.

Second round: 1 Michael Elsworth 78-12-66, 2 Andy Fish 71-4-67, 3 Ted Fairhead 81-13-68.

Overall: 1 Andy Fish 69, 67-136, 2 Dave Whiting 67, 70-137, 3 Mark Stanton 64, 73-137.

■ Haverhill were beaten in the second round of the Junior Club Team Championship by Rookery Park.

In the stableford format, off full handicap, competition Haverhill's team of Liam Merritt, Lewis

Prize guy: Andy Fish CP

Whiting and Richard Boyles finished with an aggregate 80 points, not enough to stop Harry Cook, Connor Molloy and Michael Sharp progressing with 99 points.

■ Jackie Condon continued her good form by winning the 'ladies' section's midweek medal by two shots.

However, the heavy rain affected scoring in Saturday's medal competition, with Sarah Field taking top spot.

Midweek: 1 Jackie Condon 87-16-71, 2 Gill Barke 86-13-73, 3 Pat Wellstead 118-33-85. Saturday: 1 Sarah Field 102-19-83, 2 Rebecca Hazel 117-33-84, 3 Mary Sail 101-16-85.

Comer gives Wratting a boost

West Wratting 8 Isleham Utd 1
BM Kempton 9v9 Youth League
WEST Wratting hit the goal trail in the second half to give themselves a boost for their cup final later this month.

They started nervously, misplaced passes and a lack of pressure at free kicks allowing Isleham to control the first quarter and it was no surprise when they took the lead.

However, Daniel Cordwell struck the post and a goal from Aiden Comer – scoring in his fourth game on the trot – steadied Wratting, although they needed a fingertip save from Charlie Mitchison to maintain parity.

William Coleman put Wratting ahead at the break and after that they took control, Comer completing his hat-trick with further goals from Cordwell, Dan Green, and Keelan Boon.

West Wratting 1 Ramsey 3
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-16
DESPITE forcing the first chance after just two minutes, West Wratting were not able to take the points.

Well done: Tom Warnock and Sam Langham with West Wratting under-16 boss Keith Warnock CP

The early chance fell to man-of-the-match Tom Pinker, whose thunderous free-kick from distance produced a smart save from the keeper.

However, Ramsey went ahead 10 minutes later, and although Pinker equalised from the penalty spot on 23 minutes after he had been fouled, the visitors re-established their lead just before half time.

Wratting created a couple of chances but could not force an equaliser and the game was taken out of their reach when an unmarked player headed in at the far post.

■ Tom Warnock and Sam Langham won the side's monthly awards. Warnock was named player of the month for some fine performances during April, while Langham's strike at Ramsey earned him the goal of the month prize.

West Wratting 6 Arbury Aces 3
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A

A DOMINANT performance helped West Wratting do the double over high-flying rivals who were A division winners last season.

Earle Lambert led the way with four goals, while Jack Weller thumped a cracking shot into the top corner and skipper Liam Mitchell tucked away a penalty.

However, keeper Aaron Millar made some impressive saves to keep Arbury at arm's length.

West Wratting 10 Haverhill Row 2
Cambs Mini League, under-10
MASON Firman scored five times as Wratting ended their season with a goal rush against their near neighbours.

Jack Lisher added four and James Iron completed the scoring.

Final act: West Wratting's under-10s line up before their final game of the season in the Cambs Mini League. CP

Seconds best to boost Paffett bid

GARY Paffett extended his lead at the top of the DTM (German Touring Car Masters) drivers' standings with a fine second place at the Lausitzring.

The Haverhill driver followed up his victory at Hockenheim the previous week with another impressive display in his Mercedes C-Coupe.

Having qualified in third, Paffett wasted little time in challenging for the lead, snatching second place from Augusto Farfus heading into turn one.

Bruno Spengler held the lead but there was just half a second between the two when Paffett came in for his first pit stop. His BMW rival retained the lead after his stop but the gap remained small and it continued that way after the second round of pit-stops.

The pair continued their fight to the finish but on a track on which it is notoriously difficult to overtake, Paffett had to settle for

>> Cycling

Gary Paffett:
The Mercedes driver was second at the Lausitzring to stretch his lead in the DTM second place and crossed the line less than a second behind Spengler.

"It's great to have another strong result and to extend the lead in the championship," said Paffett.

"Though with Bruno and I being so closely matched throughout the race it's a little disappointing not to come away with the win.

"The car was fantastic again during the race, so our focus will now be to work on our qualifying pace as grid position is vital at tracks where overtaking is difficult."

He added: "We're only two races in but it's already clear that it's going to be a really competitive year."

Paffett leads the drivers' standings with 43 points, 13 ahead of Jamie Green in second. And he resumes his title bid on home soil when the championship heads to Brands Hatch a week on Sunday.

Austin's a muddy marvel

WHAT should have been a fast-flowing course through a National Trust park, turned out to be a mud-caked slog for the members of the Team Aerocycles Haverhill team who braved the third round of the Eastern Region MTB series at Hylands Park, Chelmsford. Nick Ainsworth and Steve Foster (above) ploughed through inch-deep mud and axle-deep puddles to finish fourth and 41st in the veterans' category, while Rob Elliott was 11th in the Masters class. However, their star of the weekend was four-year-old Austin Ainsworth, who made his competitive debut in the Sprogs Race and beat a couple of older rivals to the line. ■ The next round is at Thetford Forest on June 13 and anyone interested should call the Aerocycles shop on 01440 762200.

>> Baseball

SUFFOLK will once again have a baseball team next year if a new club in Haverhill goes ahead.

The team, provisionally called the Haverhill Red Sox, is being set up to play adult baseball – for participants aged 14 or over – in the BBFA League and would play against teams from Chelmsford, Waltham Abbey, Enfield, Finsbury Park, Hemel Hempstead, Richmond, Guildford, Tonbridge and Brighton.

Steven Esdale, who has played, coached and worked behind the scenes at the Braintree Rays club for more than seven years, is looking to either relocate the team to Haverhill or start afresh.

"Almost everyone I see doesn't realise that baseball is played in the UK, let alone that there are leagues to play in," he said.

"It's so easy to get in to. I first got in to it having watched it on TV and then looked for teams near where I live in Haverhill. I watched Braintree play, thought I could get near that level with some training and the rest is history. Within a year I was a regular starter and I'm still developing new skills now.

"You don't even need to have any knowledge of the game or be particularly fit or athletic to play, although it does help. It's also a sport that's that little bit 'different'."

The British Baseball Federation (BBF) governs four adult leagues in the country, comprising 10 pools or divisions featuring 58 teams

Fingers crossed for games

WITH a slightly-improved weather forecast, Haverhill will be expecting to finally kick-start their season this weekend. After another rain-wrecked programme last week, the Saturday first team travel to Elmstead Grasshoppers in the top flight of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

Haverhill's showing Sox appeal

from around the country. The teams play between 10 and more than 30 games a season between mid-April and mid-September. There are also leagues for players aged 10-13 and 14-16 with the BBF hoping to set up teams and leagues in secondary schools, colleges and universities in the future.

Esdale said: "I'm looking to make everyone close to Haverhill aware of the new team, especially via secondary schools and colleges, RAF bases, newspapers, magazines, Suffolk Sport, rugby clubs, cricket clubs, hockey clubs, tennis clubs, leisure centres, radio and television."

"I'm also hoping to get in contact with some supermarkets and shopping centres nearby to set up a stall and make consumers aware of this excellent opportunity.

"It's a fantastic sport to get involved in and there is a distinct absence of entry level adult teams in the area with the nearest being over 30 miles away in Chelmsford."
